DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 9, 13, 16, 25, and 27 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 9, 13, 16, 25, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Regarding to claim 25, 1) the application concept is to linking high frequency signal with a natural electromagnetic alternating signal, then extracting the high frequency signal. One skill in the art can not understand the propose of controlling step c after extracting step b. 2) Specification did not describe controlling step C for one skill in the art to pertain, perform or to make. 3) linking high frequency signal with a natural electromagnetic alternating signal, extracting the high frequency signal, which means the original signal has retained. One skill in the art can not be pertained along with the specification that the electrostress acting on human cells are reduced.

Regarding to claim 27, renders the same problems as claim 25, in addition specification lack detailed explanation of how the sferics being extracted for one skill in the art to pertains, or most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Conclusion
